Description

Beautiful genuine natural raw Pyrite pendant necklace on a delicate gold-filled chain. The stone is wire-wrapped by hand to create a magical and minimalist look. Pyrite invites to success, prosperity and wealth. Its reflective surface deflects negative energy as a shield of protection. The perfect way to show your love, whether for yourself, someone special or the world around you.

Handmade with love.

Due to the fact that all of my stones are raw crystals and are hand wire wrap, your necklace may differ slightly in size or color of stone or in the placement of the wrapping wire, however I will do my best to keep it as pictured. Average size 18"/45cm.

Each gemstone's unique healing properties are featured on a matching card to represent the positive energy the stones will bring to the wearer. These necklaces are made to be gifted.

Each piece comes packaged with a matching card and care instructions, making them the perfect present to ship directly to the recipient. Receipt and prices are not included in our packaging.
